88rxm manual

What is missing are the ribbon cables for the hard drive and dvd unit. I guess they're for the usb, audio, and for the front panel lights. If a cable to connect the dvd drive to the MB is needed, then I have to add it to the list. I believe that everything else is there. Where can I get the right name for these parts so that I can buy and install them myself Thank You. I'll be ordering these and the RAM today. I'm just waiting to find out about the other cables. There are multiple labels on the back and base. The Dell service tag is a seven character identifier that is unique to your product. In addition to the service tag, there is an Express Service Code which is a 10 digit numeric version of the service tag. There is a panel on the front that opens and reveals the tag. There is also a Serial Number and FCC ID label on the bottom of the unit. The power button is on a separate 16 pin ribbon cable and board 88RXM. I have added a picture of the inside of the Dell tower. This is all that came with it. I noticed from the manual that Ravi sent me that 2 cables connect to the front panel. I also need a DVD drive audio cable. Can these cables be bought online or do I have to go through Dell Computers. I also noticed that the battery is missing. Is this right. Can anyone help me out on the instructions It looks like it might have the power button built into it. Dell has not published a guide to remove the front bezel of the Dimension 4550, you can use this GUIDE It may help another user. And thanks to Jeff for pointing it out. Saved me from tooting my own horn. Please try again. Backed by minimum 6 months Warranty provided by the Seller.
